

SIMILARITY CRITERIA IN THE STRUCTURAL MODELING BY MEANS OF SHAKING TABLES

Violeta-Elena CHITAN, Lucian STRAT

The choice of similitude scales and of adequate criteria in structural analysis in the case of dynamic loads – especially for investigations on vibrating tables – is presented. An improved criterion taking into account bending modulus ratio was used for some special structures.

